Hello!

Thank you very much for your order. We really appreciate your business. The feedback you leave on eBay greatly affects each seller. Your feedback can either help a seller or harm a seller. As you may know Positive feedback is the best you can leave. Many sellers on eBay are single parents, retiree's, disabled persons and the like. So many rely on the supplemental income they work so hard for. Believe me, most shutter every time they look at their feedback scores. Most try very hard to maintain their 100% perfect feedback score although sometimes it's a difficult and arduous task.

Did you know that a neutral score is just as bad to a seller as a negative?

Although eBay tells everyone that neutrals don't affect your score they actually do. Neutrals can lower the page ranking of a sellers product which can almost bury their listings. The same with the other areas of scoring such as the shipping costs, communication, listing accuracy so on. It's all relevant and works towards the sellers overall score and listing placement.

Good sellers will always help to satisfy a buyer including providing a refund or product replacement. Always work with your eBay seller and please, "Don't be quick to leave a poor score" , this can really hurt the seller.

READ THE EBAY LISTINGS PRIOR TO YOUR PURCHASE AND DON'T ASSUME!

Email your sellers and ask questions prior to your purchase. Many people have purchased an item, have been disappointed because they didn't read the listing or ask questions, then leave the seller negative feedback because they didn't read the listing. That type of action is unfair and just plain mean! We are here to help you with your purchase and stand behind you even after the sale. We hope you will recommend our products to your friends and family. We pride ourselves by providing quality customer service and will be here to resolve any concerns you may have.

We hope to make your experience as exciting and as pleasurable as possible.

Enjoy!
